

429-427 B C

Spartans besieged and forced Plataean - Athenian force to surrender during Peloponnesian War.

429-427 B.C.

1912 Dates J-BK

PLATAEA

A city of northern Greece.

During the Peloponnesian War, Plataea was besieged by the Theban-Lacedaemonian forces and after persistent and active effort, the town was taken. The small number of citizens which had not escaped were put to death and the city was destroyed.

4290C

---

Pericles died of the Plague

H29BC

---

Birth of Plato.

429BC

---

Death of PERICLES.

Cleon in power.

SOPHOCLES' "OEDIPUS the KING."

of all things, and has all knowledge about all things and infinite power." His theory of NOUS was vague, but makes great advances in the direction of theism.

His doctrine of NOUS passed to ARISTOTLE while his doctrine of atoms prepared the way for DEMOCRITUS and the Atomic school

<sup>430 BC</sup>
500 - 428 BC

ANAXAGORAS

one of most eminent IONIC philosophers was born at CLAZOMENAE, in IONIA. 480 - He went to Athens where he became intimate with Pericles; was fined 5 Talents and banished for impiety about 430 BC. He asserted that "the sun was a red-hot mass larger than the PLEIOPONNESUS" and retired to LAMPSACUS where he died.

Anaxagoras had a deeper knowledge of physical laws than any of his predecessors or contemporaries. He also arrived at some fairly accurate conclusions regarding the cause of the moon's light, of eclipses, earthquakes, meteors, of the rainbow, of wind, and of sound. His great contribution was his doctrine as to the origin of all things. He held that all matter existed originally not in the form of so called elements, but in the condition of atoms, or molecules, (in modern terminology); that these atoms infinitely numerous & infinitesimally small had existed from all eternity; and that order was first produced out of infinite chaos of minutiae through the influence and operation of an external intelligence (Deus NOVUS). He maintained that all bodies were simply aggregations of these atoms, and that a bar of gold, or iron, etc. was composed of innumervably minute particles of the same material. He described the NOVUS as infinite, self potent, and unmixed with anything else. NOVUS (he said) was the most pure and subtle

429 BC

Death of Pericles.

Clear leader of war party -

Siege of Plataea.